A watercolor illustration of a person in traditional Indian attire. The figure is standing with hands on hips, facing slightly to the left. They wear a bright orange turban with a decorative blue and white band and a small blue feather. Their face is adorned with blue and white patterns, possibly henna or makeup. The upper garment is a long, orange jacket with a grid-like pattern of small, dark, circular motifs. The lower garment is a long, flowing orange skirt. The figure wears orange leggings and orange shoes with dark, ornate details. The background is plain white.

A full-body illustration of a person in traditional Indian attire. The person is wearing a red turban with a blue feather on top. Their face is painted red with blue markings around the eyes and mouth. They are wearing a red tunic with a grid of blue and gold patterns. The person is standing with one hand on their hip and the other near their chest.
